Job fair today

TMS Health is holding a job fair at its new center in Moosic.

Where: 52 Glenmaura National Boulevard

When: 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Applicants must apply online at www.tmshealth.com and bring a resume to the job fair.

MOOSIC – A move to Northeastern Pennsylvania put TMS Health closer to its clients, and the Florida-based health communications company is hiring to fill its local office.

TMS Health plans to add up to 100 people by the end of the year to space it is leasing on Glenmaura National Boulevard, said Guy Amato, its chief executive officer.

“We’ve been growing,” he said Wednesday.

“We provide a best in class service to our clients. We only do health care,” Amato offered as reasons for the growth of TMS during the recession while other companies cut back or held off adding staff.

Founded in 1992, TMS Health has approximately 600 employees, an office in Johnstown and a group working on-site for a client in Pittsburgh. The privately held company with headquarters in Boca Raton added a new client to the ones it already has in the Philadelphia and New York metropolitan areas that include pharmaceutical, medical device and consumer health care product manufacturers, Amato said.

“We support the customer relationships of our clients,” he explained. New hires will be full time with a mixture of customer service, managers and supervisors, a couple of registered nurses and clerical and administrative positions.
